Weekly News Updates for SDM Faculty, Staff and Students

SDM's Professional Predoctoral Orientation Week Tradition Continues

On August 6th, as part of the professional predoctoral Orientation Week program, the entire D3 Class attended and completed an all-day, hands-on laboratory training session on osteotomy preparation and dental implant placement on plastic mandible models. Students were divided in groups of three and supervised by faculty members of the Implant Dentistry Clinic.

This training session has become a UB SDM tradition during the Orientation Week and it has been made possible through the valuable support and technical assistance of Straumann Inc. and its representative, Mr. Christian Harfouche.

The UB Implant Dentistry Unit Team has again developed and implemented a successful laboratory educational training program that all predoctoral D3 students enjoyed and found conducive to the foundational learning of implant dentistry. A sincere thank you to team members: Ms. Deb Falter, Mr. Don
